WHAT IS THE DC TAP FESTIVAL?

Heading into its 9th year, Chloe and Maud Foundation 501^c3 Non-profit presents one of the most sought after and world renown dance festivals in the world here in our nation's capital. The DC Tap Fest provides an opportunity to expand the language of Tap Dance, an original American Art form. This 7-day event offers master classes with the world's stars of dance, a mobile filmmaking workshop, mini-film festival, panel discussions, jam sessions, student entrepreneurship training and an All-Star Concert Performance featuring dancers and musicians from all around the world.

Our mission is to inspire and unite tap dancers and dance lovers from around the world, and together, heighten the global respect and appreciation for this rich American art form. We welcome all people, regardless of economic status, age, gender, artistic or cultural background. The DC Tap fest is a haven for the creative and artistic process, growth and achievement building the next generation of artists, entrepreneurs and world changers.

TAP INTO LIFE WITH DC TAP FEST

Chloe & Maud
FOUNDATION

During the weeks leading up to the DC Tap Festival, young tap dancers who have participated in DC Tap Fest entrepreneurship internship program will go into underserved communities to perform and teach workshops free of charge.

ABOUT THE FOUNDERS

Sisters Chloe and Maud Arnold, natives of Washington, DC were fortunate enough to grow up during a time where ARTS funding provided the opportunity for them to train with legendary artists; The Nicholas Brothers, Gregory Hines, Peg Leg Bates and Debbie Allen. It was the exposure to these inspiring legends that set the bar and set these sisters on their journeys. Both graduates of Columbia University they have travelled to over 40 countries teaching, performing, choreographing and producing worldwide viral dance videos. DC Tap Festival and its founders Chloe and Maud have been highlighted globally for their talent and their work in the community.

WHY SPONSOR?

Your Sponsorship establishes vital relationships between your brand and the community, uplifting generations with the spirit of the ARTS.
